FREEDOM OF INFORMATION (SCOTLAND) ACT 2002

I refer to your recent request for information which has been handled in accordance with the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002.

For ease of reference, your request is replicated below together with the response.

To request how many people recorded Witness statements to Police Scotland Citing Harassment from neighbour loud techno base beat

From August twenty twenty one to especially 17-18 July 2022

In response to this question, I regret to inform you that I am unable to provide you with the information you have requested, as it would prove too costly to do so within the context of the fee regulations.

As you may be aware the current cost threshold is £600 and I estimate that it would cost well in excess of this amount to process your request.

As such, and in terms of Section 16(4) of the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002 where Section 12(1) of the Act (Excessive Cost of Compliance) has been applied, this represents a refusal notice for the information sought.

By way of explanation, the incident recording system used by Police Scotland, STORM, has no facility available which would allow for the automatic retrieval of this level of information.

Case by case assessment of all incident reports coded as 'Noise' and/ or 'Neighbour dispute' etc would have to be carried out to establish whether there was any reference to the police having attended and taken a statement, and also whether it was specifically in relation to 'techno' etc.

This would involve individually examining thousands of incident reports which is an exercise that I estimate would far exceed the cost limit set out in the Fees Regulations.

Should you require any further assistance please contact Information Management Dundee, quoting the reference number given.
