FREEDOM OF INFORMATION (SCOTLAND) ACT 2002

I refer to your recent request for information which has been handled in accordance with the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002.

For ease of reference, your request is replicated below together with the response.

The number of reports received concerning a threat made to a political figure (MP / MSP / Councillor) between 1st January 2020 and 31st January 2022.

The number of arrests made concerning offences committed against a political figure (MP / MSP / Councillor) between 1st January 2020 and 31st January 2022.

Having considered your request in terms of the above Act, I regret to inform you that I am unable to provide you with the information you have requested, as it would prove too costly to do so within the context of the fee regulations.

As you may be aware the current cost threshold is £600 and I estimate that it would cost well in excess of this amount to process your request.

As such, and in terms of Section 16(4) of the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002 where Section 12(1) of the Act (Excessive Cost of Compliance) has been applied, this represents a refusal notice for the information sought.

By way of explanation, Police Scotland operates a number of crime recording systems. Whilst robust statistical analysis can be made of the data held on each of our systems, they are not, at present, designed to enable the retrieval of the highly specific information as per your request.

In this instance, 'Member of Parliament, Member of Scottish Parliament or local government councillors' are not a mandatory fields on our recording systems, notwithstanding, it is not possible to search recorded incidents based upon specific details of the victim.

As such, the only way to provide an accurate response to your request would be to individually examine each and every crime report, for the time period requested, to establish any details regarding the victim.

By way of assistance, Police Scotland does publish quarterly information reports, which contain statistics regarding our performance.

Please see the link below for more information.
