Investigators

Introduction

This range of training interventions are aimed at developing the skills of investigators from Initial through to Senior Investigating Officers (SIO). Crime investigators training focuses on the application of legal knowledge and practical skills for investigators at all levels. Specialist courses are also available in subjects such as serious crime investigation, drugs offences, child protection and crime scene management.

The ability to investigate incidents thoroughly and professionally are as important to the police as they are to private industry, statutory bodies and third sectors.

Capability

We have a wide range of courses available for investigators of varying disciplines such as investigator interview training and crime pattern analysis. When delivering training out with Scotland, we tailor courses to suit different countries legislative frameworks.
