

Police Scotland (on behalf of Scottish Police Authority)
Community Empowerment (Scotland) Act 2015 - Section 95
Third Annual Report on Asset Transfer Requests (covering the period from 1 April 2019 to 31 March 2020)

Introduction

In terms of Section 95 of the Community Empowerment (Scotland) Act 2015, relevant authorities must publish an asset transfer report for each reporting year. The report must contain details of (i) the number of requests received, (ii) the number of requests agreed to and refused, (iii) the number of requests which resulted in a transfer of ownership to a community transfer body / a lease of land to such a body / rights being conferred on a community transfer body, (iv) information about any appeals or reviews made by a community transfer body, and (v) details of any action taken by the authority to promote the use of asset transfer requests and to support community transfer bodies in making asset transfer requests.

The following is a summary of asset transfer requests processed by Police Scotland in the reporting year from 1 April 2019 until 31 March 2020:-

Work done to promote the use of Asset Transfer Requests and support Community Transfer Bodies to make Requests

A decision is expected shortly in relation to a further asset transfer request which was the subject of a recent report to the Scottish Police Authority.

Information about Asset Transfer is published on a dedicated page on Police Scotland's website. The webpage provides a link to the application form as well as contact details for the submission of enquiries and applications for asset transfer. The webpage also contains details of prior asset transfer requests made.

Internally, the Estates and Legal Services departments have been continuing to monitor and review the assessment form and scoring matrix designed to assist our tactical group in their decision-making. The Estates department has been to a demonstration on the use of a tool to assess the community benefit of Asset Transfer Requests.

The Estates department continues to engage with the Community Ownership Support Service with regard to pending applications. We also encourage community bodies applying for asset transfer to do so as well.

We have had enquiries from other community bodies about potential asset transfers and actively engage with those bodies to assist them with their applications.

Scottish Police Authority has approved Police Scotland's Surplus Property Disposal Strategy which reflects the rights of community bodies to acquire land and property under the Community Empowerment (Scotland) Act 2015. It is recognised in this Strategy that early engagement with the community on the disposal of surplus assets is particularly important in order to establish a dialogue and understand which assets may be likely to attract community interest.
