FREEDOM OF INFORMATION (SCOTLAND) ACT 2002

I refer to your recent request for information which has been handled in accordance with the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002.

For ease of reference, your request is replicated below together with the response.

May I requested CCTV from 1 October 2018 @ 0132 Edinburgh road Glasgow. Near Swinton avenue.

In relation to your request for information, I can advise that it is exempt in terms of the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002 (the Act). Section 16 of the Act requires Police Scotland to provide you with a notice which: (a) states that it holds the information, (b) states that it is claiming an exemption, (c) specifies the exemption in question and (d) states, if that would not be otherwise apparent, why the exemption applies.

Where information is considered to be exempt, this letter serves as a Refusal Notice that information is held and an explanation of the appropriate exemption is provided.

The exemptions that I consider to be applicable to the information requested by you are as follows:

Section 38 (1) (b) – Personal Information

Whilst I accept that you may have a legitimate interest with regards the disclosure of this information and that disclosure may well be necessary for that purpose, I am nonetheless of the view that those interests are overridden by the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject

To explain, the release of personal information, either directly or inadvertently is exempt under the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002. This is an absolute exemption which does not require a public interest test to be conducted.

Section 34 (1) (b) – Investigations Section 35 (1) (b) – Law Enforcement

Section 34(1) (b) of the Act provides an absolute exemption from disclosure in that information is exempt information if it has at any time been held by Police Scotland for the purposes of an investigation which may lead to a decision to make a report to the Procurator Fiscal to enable it to be determined whether criminal proceedings should be instituted.

OFFICIAL

This, in turn, would be likely to prejudice substantially the ability of the police to investigate and detect crime, and would have a similar detrimental impact on the apprehension or prosecution offenders – making the information exempt from disclosure in terms of Section 35(1) (a) & (b).

I appreciate that there is a public interest in relation to police investigations and in particular the effective use of police resources by the service. Likewise, disclosure could also inform the public debate on the issue of policing and contribute to the accuracy of that debate. That said, it is essential that neither the investigation nor the potential for proceedings to be brought against an individual are put at risk. Accordingly, at this time the public interest lies in protecting the integrity of investigative and criminal justice procedures by refusing to provide the information sought
