FREEDOM OF INFORMATION (SCOTLAND) ACT 2002

I refer to your recent request for information which has been handled in accordance with the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002.

For ease of reference, your request is replicated below together with the response.

Would it be possible to obtain an annual breakdown for each of the years 2019 to 2022 so far of the number of online crimes reported to the police, broken down by local authority area?

Can you please state what platform each of the crimes were alleged to have occurred on (Facebook, eBay, Twitter etc) and the category of crime reported?

Having considered your request in terms of the Act, I regret to inform you that I am unable to provide you with the information you have requested, as it would prove too costly to do so within the context of the fee regulations.

As you may be aware the current cost threshold is £600 and I estimate that it would cost well in excess of this amount to process your request.

As such, and in terms of Section 16(4) of the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002 where Section 12(1) of the Act (Excessive Cost of Compliance) has been applied, this represents a refusal notice for the information sought.

By way of explanation, the only way to provide an accurate response to your request would be to manually examine each and every potential relevant crime report since 2019 to establish where there was an 'online' element. There are no relevant markers which allow the automatic retrieval of this level of information. As such this is an exercise which given the numbers of reports would far exceed the cost limit set out in the Fees Regulations.

Should you require any further assistance please contact Information Management - Dundee at foi@scotland.police.uk quoting the reference number given.
