FREEDOM OF INFORMATION (SCOTLAND) ACT 2002

I refer to your recent request for information which has been handled in accordance with the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002.

For ease of reference, your request is replicated below together with the response.

Information relating to Deceased Individual

Having considered your request in terms of the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002, I am refusing to confirm or deny whether the information sought exists or is held by Police Scotland in terms of section 18 of the Act.

Section 18 applies where the following two conditions are met:

- It would be contrary to the public interest to reveal whether the information is held

Whilst we accept that you may have a particular personal interest in being informed as to whether or not the information sought is held, the overwhelming public interest lies in protecting individuals' right to privacy and the expectation of confidence that the public have in Police Scotland as regards their information. Please bear in mind that disclosures in terms of Freedom of Information legislation are public disclosures of information and the legislation is not therefore appropriate when it comes to particular personal matters/ specific investigations.

- If the information was held, it would be exempt from disclosure in terms of one or more of the exemptions set out in sections 28 to 35, 38, 39(1) or 41 of the Act

In this instance, any information held in relation to an individual's death specifically or other information Police Scotland may hold about the deceased are not disclosable under the Act. As such, Sections 34(2)(b), 34(1) and 35(1)(a)&(b) of the Act have been applied.

- Section 34(1), (2) (b) - Investigations
- Section 35(1) (a) & (b) - Law enforcement

In relation to information regarding allegations, anything of relevance would be held for the purpose an investigation which Police Scotland has a duty to conduct to ascertain whether or not an individual should be reported to COPFS for an offence. Disclosure of any such information would prejudice the prevention and detection of crime and the apprehension or prosecution of offenders.

OFFICIAL

This should not, however, be taken as conclusive evidence that the information you have requested exists or does not exist.
