FREEDOM OF INFORMATION (SCOTLAND) ACT 2002

I refer to your recent request for information which has been handled in accordance with the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002.

For ease of reference, your request is replicated below together with the response.

- How many incidents of theft of goods from lorries/HGVs have been reported to the force in the past three years?
- Of these incidents, how many also involved other offences eg assault/criminal damage?
- How many of these incidents have resulted in an arrest?

Having considered your request in terms of the Act, I regret to inform you that I am unable to provide you with the information you have requested, as it would prove too costly to do so within the context of the fee regulations.

As you may be aware the current cost threshold is £600 and I estimate that it would cost well in excess of this amount to process your request.

As such, and in terms of Section 16(4) of the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002 where Section 12(1) of the Act (Excessive Cost of Compliance) has been applied, this represents a refusal notice for the information sought.

By way of explanation, the only way to provide an accurate response to your request would be to manually examine each and every Theft from a Motor Vehicle crime report, to establish whether the vehicle involved is described as a lorry/HGV and then subsequently establish whether further charges such as vandalism, malicious damage, assault etc. were also recorded. Given the volume of numbers, this is an exercise which would far exceed the cost limit set out in the Fees Regulations.

To illustrate, the most recent published figures show that for the 2021/22 financial year, there were 10, 497 motor vehicle dishonesty crimes recorded.
