FREEDOM OF INFORMATION (SCOTLAND) ACT 2002

I refer to your recent request for information which has been handled in accordance with the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002.

For ease of reference, your request is replicated below together with the response.

How many crimes reported since 2020 involved an Albanian national as the perpetrator?
How many crimes reported since 2020 involved an Lithuanian national as the perpetrator?
What were the crimes?

Having considered your request in terms of the above Act, I regret to inform you that I am unable to provide you with the information you have requested, as it would prove too costly to do so within the context of the fee regulations.

As you may be aware the current cost threshold is £600 and I estimate that it would cost well in excess of this amount to process your request.

As such, and in terms of Section 16(4) of the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002 where Section 12(1) of the Act (Excessive Cost of Compliance) has been applied, this represents a refusal notice for the information sought.

By way of explanation, the Nationality of an individual, whether the Accused or the Complainer, is not generally gathered unless relevant to the offence and it is not mandatory to be recorded.

Notwithstanding, where an individual's Nationality has been recorded, the crime recording systems used by Police Scotland have no facility whereby this information can be easily extracted.

As such, case by case assessment of all crime reports would require to be carried out to extract the details of the accused and to establish whether a place of birth is recorded.

This is an exercise which I estimate would far exceed the cost limit set out in the Fees Regulations.
